2019-2020 YEAR IN REVIEW

We worked hard last year to achieve the goals of our 5-year plan. Here is how we did it.

Develop Learners and Scholars
- 665 undergraduate students
- 43 graduate students

Inclusive space
Enhanced inclusive spaces and environment in our recreation areas through staff training, updated guidelines and facility improvements.

Impact of COVID-19
- Provided emergency financial support to over 25 kinesiology students impacted by COVID-19.
- Proudly donated:
  - 79 cases of gloves
  - 2 cases of disinfectant wipes
  - 1 gallon of surface disinfectant
  - 4 1L bottles of hand sanitizer to front line workers in Saskatchewan.
- Over 50 KIN courses were moved to remote delivery in the Winter and Spring terms.

Commitment to Reconciliation
- 125 children from 7 communities participated in the Youth Leadership Through Sport partnership with Saskatoon Tribal Council.
- 63 self-declared Indigenous students in the undergraduate program.
- Introduction to Indigenous Wellness (KIN 306.3) approved as a required course in the kinesiology program.

Seek Discovery for Impact
- Multi-year funding packages now available to incoming graduate students.
- PHE Canada Award
  - Dr. Louise Humbert earned the R. Tait McKenzie Award, PHE Canada's most prestigious award recognizing Canadians who have made a significant impact on physical and health education and who have served the profession over an extended period of time.

Engage with Community
- Over 75 alumni attended the All-Years gathering.
- Griffiths Stadium Turf revitalization project breaks ground with $3.14 million in funding from the Government of Saskatchewan.

Over 277K visitors to the PAC.

4 high impact events for kinesiology students.
